Study programme

In 2021-2022, the coursework for all students of the MA Gender Studies who will start their Master's in September is scheduled to take place on campus, if government regulations allow this. There will be no online alternative. More information about the coursework from September 2021 on will be published on this website soon.

CURRICULUM

Your programme starts with the NOISE Summer School , an interactive week of lectures, work groups, and social activities. The NOISE Summer School always takes place in the last week of August (i.e. the week before the academic year starts and a small contribution to the NOISE programme will have to be paid).

From September onwards, the year is divided into two semesters, running from September until January and from February until June. A semester is divided into two study periods.

Courses

For detailed course descriptions, see Courses.

First semester

- Compulsory courses (20 EC) to familiarise you with the theoretical and methodological frameworks of Gender Studies.
- Elective courses (10 EC), in which you will focus on themes and topics such as art and affect, postcoloniality, or new technologies.

Second semester

- A full-time internship (15 EC) at an (inter)national organisation, institution, or company of your choice.
- An academic thesis (15 EC) on a subject of your choice. The thesis will deepen your understanding and explore a particular aspect you encountered during your internship in a sophisticated academic manner. For examples, see our thesis archive .

EDUCATIONAL METHODS

- lecture (10%)
- seminar (20%)
- group work (20%)
- internship (25%)
- self-study (25%)

EXAMINATIONS

- written assignments
- presentations
- creative assignments *
- internship
- thesis

* E.g. the course Feminist Approaches to Art and Affect will give you the possibility for a final performance, in which you are free to choose the format of your presentation. It can be a poster, a short movie, photographs, a song, a poem, etc.
